The singular shape of the TriClimb makes it a focal point of any playground. The sets of graduated ascending loops provide children with a variety of hand and foot holds. Elementary aged children will be able to work on their arm and leg coordination as they clamber around the TriClimb. The unique shape makes it a place for children to socialize and it encourages group play. The games that can be played here are only limited by the child's own imagination. This structure can fit in with any playground because you can choose any of our twenty-two available colors.
