Ideally, outdoor play on a playground should be both enjoyable and healthy exercise for children. The S Loop Horizontal Ladder accomplishes both of these things with its exciting and physically challenging design. It works just like any other overhead ladder, but has rounded loops which are easier for children to hold onto. The curving S shape of the structure makes it more compact and easy to fit onto the playground, and also makes it more interesting for the children using it, since they won't be simply looking straight ahead. It comes with twenty individual loops, making it a rather difficult challenge to fully complete, but one which children will learn to accomplish through practice.
