For a playhouse in a church or Sunday School playground, the R-Town Church is simply divine. This beautiful structure resembles a classic church design, complete with a raised bell tower on top. It even has a portico over the entryway and a porch, where children can stand as they welcome their friends inside. The structure has plenty of windows, which let in plenty of light and make it easier for kids to talk and play with their friends outside. The R-Town Church goes wonderfully alongside our other playhouse structures, as you can bring an entire village of fun to your play area.
