Grow your own flowers or vegetables in this Raised Garden Bed by Nature of Early Play! This can be a fun activity to do with the kids as they plant the seeds, water the soil and watch their garden flourish into a beautiful garden. This planting box has sturdy recycled plastic walls which contain the soil and water without any leaks. Its size makes it easily reachable and visible to young children, which makes it an ideal way to show them about the process of germination and growth. The container is large enough to hold eight cubic feet of soil when full, which offers enough space for several different kinds of plants to be grown, and enough space for their roots to grow to an impressively healthy size without running out of room. This raised garden bed has an open bottom and is a 4-foot length by 2-foot width and purchasable with one of two height levels.
