The Garden Arbor with Benches by Nature of Early Play adds a lovely, relaxing vibe to any garden to create a peaceful outdoor spot. This structure is made of recycled material that has been cut and structured into a beautiful canopy with two resting spots underneath. Ivy and plants will grow and wrap around the planks to create beautiful greenery. Best of all this structure can be made child-sized, so you can give the kids a place to rest as you garden. However, if you choose the adult size this will be a nice resting spot to spend time with the kids reading, smelling the flowers or playing games. The archway can also serve as an inviting entrance to your area, with a pathway running through the middle. Choose between two sizes; the child size which measures 8-feet in width, 5-feet in length and 6-feet in height or the adult size which measures 8-feet in width, 5-feet in length and 8-feet in height.
