The Trike Garage & Fill Station is a secure storage shed with a whimsical toy gas pump and electric car charging station. The electrical car charging station may seem funny at first, but it is a sight that children will likely grow up seeing more and more of. That, along with the recycled plastic materials used in the structure show a commitment to environmental aid. This garage has a strong door which closes securely so that weather, vandals, and wild animals can't get in, especially if it is locked. The "Country Garage and Filling Station" sign above the entrance lets kids know that this is a place for fun, as well as a practical storage space.
