The Nesting Nature Table is a useful structure for young children which has almost limitless uses, both for fun and games, and for education. This table has a large spacious compartment which allows it to be used as a sand table, water table, toy box, or anything else that kids might enjoy or learn from. It comes with a convenient lid with handles, which helps to keep animals and precipitation out. These lids also have handles, which make the 38-pound table extremely portable. Plus, the tables are designed to 'nest' one on top of the other, which makes stacking and storage simple.
