For every season, turn, turn, turn. There is a play accessory, turn, turn, turn. Children can explore Winter, Spring, Summer, and Fall with the interactive Freestanding Seasons Panel. Children will spin the dial and identify the seasons using visual clues and reasoning. The panel makes a great tie-in to classroom learning, allowing educators to bring the lesson plan outside and into the great outdoors for some hands-on learning. Caregivers and teachers can create games centered around the seasons, sing songs, and discuss nature's changing weather and seasons. The Freestanding Panel provides a perfect introduction to essential concepts like environmental stewardship and agriculture. Plus, it's pretty darn adorable and makes for a great photo op.
