School's back in session with our Freestanding School Panel. Children will delight in pretending to be teachers, students, and involved parents with this schoolhouse-themed panel, perfect for dramatic play. Constructed with a hunter green background and emblazoned with crisp white lettering, the School Panel arch is built of recycled structural plastic and makes an ideal embellishment for a trike path or playground. Appropriate for children two to twelve, the School Panel acts as a charming backdrop to hours of imaginative exploration. The Freestanding Panel can stand alone or be fitted to an existing playscape or recreation space. Apples for teacher sold separately!
