Children will have tons of fun pretending to put out fires and save cats from trees with our Freestanding Fire Station Panel. Boasting a hunter green background and embellished with crisp white lettering, the Fire Station Panel arch is made from recycled structural plastic and adds interest and dramatic play to any trike path or playground. Ideal for children two to twelve, the Fire Station Panel creates a charming backdrop for hours of imaginative exploration. The panel can stand alone in a green space or be added to an existing playground. It's versatile, easy-to-install, and timeless. Fire hoses and hydrants not included!
