The Robinson is a wild play system with a castaway theme. Its most eye-catching feature is the net bridge that links the two sides of the structure, which swings and sways as more kids climb on it. Both sides have their own slides. The upper area has a large Spiral Slide, while the lower side has a Triple Slide where kids can ride with their friends. It also has two overhead climbers for important upper-body exercise, and a climbing wall with ropes to grip for support. The Robinson can be ordered with your choice of metal or natural wood materials.
