The Cedar playset is the best tree fort that a kid could ask for. Its large elevated deck area provides a perfect view of the surrounding playground, and contains a ton of great activities including a Xylophone Enclosure where kids can practice music, and several window panels for observation. There are also benches and less physical activities like the Labyrinth Panel for children to enjoy if they get tired and need to take a quick break. As its name suggests, the Cedar playset is available with natural wood building materials. However, we also offer it with a durable metal structure.
