This Hutch is the perfect place for children to store toy food for their kitchen playset. It has two upper shelves where ingredients and condiments can be stored close at hand. Beneath that, there is a large counter space where the food can be prepared and put together. And at the base, there is cupboard space which is protected by two swinging doors. This space is large enough to hold a large number of items. The hinges on these doors are full-length, which eliminates all of the spaces where children could potentially get their fingers pinched. The entire hutch also features rounded corners, so that children won't get hurt by bumping into them. The durable birch wood with a protective UV finish is resistant to scratching and physical damage. This item makes a great addition to all of our other great kitchen furniture items.
