All aboard for fun with the Infinity Express Train Engine! This fun and brightly colored train engine puts kids in the conductor's seat, where they can use the steering wheel to drive the train to wherever their imagination takes it. There are no rails telling the Infinity Express where to go! Kids can easily slide in and out of the metal seat, which is large enough to hold two children at once. But for an exciting alternate way to reach it, they can crawl through the plastic tunnel which makes up the front of the train engine. The wheels and fun panel shapes make the Infinity express look just like a real locomotive. The engine is all you need to get started, but for more fun additional train cars can be added on to increase the size of the train, and the number of children who can enjoy it at once.
