SnugPlay play systems are a unique modular structures that allow children to build their own dynamic playscapes, and the Primary System is the perfect introductory set. It contains 50 flexible noodle pieces, which are made from a soft foam material that lets them be bent and shaped easily. With so many noodles, there is certain to be enough for every kid to play with, even when the play area is busy. These noodles are fun on their own, but they are also connector pieces which can be linked to the other pieces in the set to create an infinite variety of different structures and shapes. Kids will have fun building their own playscape while exercising their creativity. The set contains two Bump pieces, a Cog piece, and two Spider pieces, which each have six nodes for noodle attachments, allowing kids to start building in every direction, as well as two Wave pieces and a Wall piece.
