The Toddler chair gives the very youngest children a place to sit which is perfectly suited to their size and their needs. It is carefully crafted with comfort in mind, which is why it has arm rests as well as a gently slanted seat back to match and improve children's posture. With a seat height of five inches the chair is the perfect size for young children, as well as the perfect height for our Infant-Toddler Table. The lightweight birch veneer material which makes up the bench is sturdy, but very easy to carry. Multiple chairs can be stacked up at on top of each other to save space, and make the whole stack easy to transport all at once. They even have small handles on the top of the seat back and under each arm, which make the chairs easy to move from place to place, and to put away when they aren't being used.
