Kids love expressing themselves and making music for all to hear, which is exactly what is offered by the Free Standing Chime Panel. This great panel has five individual keys which produce sounds at different pitch ranges. This allows kids to blend the sounds together and make complex rhythms. This panel can be installed on nearly any playground with its simple in-ground mounting. The ornate chime instrument adorns one side of the panel, while the other side is decorated with a pair of eighth notes to let every kid know what this panel is all about. Its durable plastic materials make it tough as well as stylish. This panel is available in varying color palettes: a red, blue, and yellow primary color arrangement, and a green and brown natural color arrangement; these are available for a 1 -2 week shipping period. If a custom color combination is more your style, shipping times will increase to 6 - 7 weeks as it will be custom built. The Free Standing Chime Panel will bring any playground to life with the sounds of music!
