Children will take a trip to the English countryside with the Brick Cottage Playhouse, sipping imaginary tea and eating imaginary crumpets. This miniature playhouse takes the appearance of a classic cottage house that is typical to see on the outside skirts of England. It features details resembling laid brick and roof that resembles a classic steel roof. Windows surround the entire structure with a total of eight windows around the structure and one more at the top, near the roof. This allows not only light to shine in, blessing children's' play time with the sun's rays, but allows for parents or caretakers to monitor the activities of the children inside. The inside of the structure leaves it open for more imagination allowing children to personalize it. They can fit a small table that can be used for "tea time" or they can fit some of their favorite toys as potential housemates. The Brick Cottage Playhouse is ideal for children ages 2-12 years old giving them room to grow in the playhouse and enjoy it for a considerable amount of time.
