The Covered Maze Infant Exploratorium is a wonderful and safe play area for young crawlers and early toddlers aged 6 to 23 months. It offers a controlled environment where daycare workers, parents, or teachers can look down from overhead to see where the child is at the entire way along the maze route. The path through the enclosure is actually quite easy for a young one to navigate. And they'll likely be in no big hurry to leave anyway as there are a number of fun games inside to grab their attention. A bell can be rung to make a pleasing sound or beads can be shifted back and forth along a rail. There is a panel for an adult to play peek-a-boo through, a mirror for the child to ponder their reflection, and a series of shapes that can be spun about. The Covered Maze Infant Exploratorium has an attached roof overhead that provides pleasing shade on sunny days. It would make an ideal purchase for a church, preschool, or anywhere young children are gathered for long periods of time.
