The Arcadia Bench with Back by Webcoat is an elegantly designed seating solution for areas lacking in places to relax and congregate. The pleasing lines and modern appearance of this bench make it a great choice to enhance spaces like office lobbies, streetscapes, and college campuses. The bench is built of fully welded steel and can handle usage by any individual regardless of their shape or size. The careful spacing of the slats enables airflow which increases user comfort while also allowing the bench to more quickly dry after a rainy day. The bench is finished with a layer of powder-coated paint. The bench is available in the color shown here or you can have it changed to an alternate shade from one of several options. Please contact a AAA State of Play salesperson for more information on selecting different colors. The Arcadia Bench with Back is purchasable in a 4-foot or a 6-foot option and as a surface mount or an in-ground mount unit.
