Highlights:

- Brightly colored for easy visibility
- Comes with or without wing
- An essential item to help figure out when a ball has gone foul
- Comes in a two-pack

With these Baseball Foul Poles, you can make your local baseball field feel just like a Major League stadium. These tall, bright yellow poles will quickly settle any disputes over whether or not a ball was 'in,' making the umpire's job much easier. They are sold in sets of two, so you can set one up on each foul line. For larger fields where a 10' pole might not be visible enough, we also offer towering 20' tall poles with an optional wing attachment for increased width. The 1' wide wing comes securely welded to the top half of the pole, and gives it an authentic stadium look. The taller poles have swaged-fit pipes to make assembly simple. To help support their added height, the 20' poles also have a 3-1/2" outer diameter, rather than the 2-7/8" diameter of the 10' poles.
