The Bryce Ipe Wood Slatted Bench without Back by Webcoat employs the natural magnificence of Ipe wood to magnify the beauty of its surroundings. The dark brown of the wood planks is set in a durable framework of steel. Both ingredients combine to make a bench that's perfect for installation in a wide variety of contemporary locations. You could seamlessly place this seat in shopping centers, on university grounds, at corporate entrances, or along retail corridors. The bench's backless design opens up placement decision making, as it allows for people to approach and use the bench from both sides. The stained wood of the Ipe planks is sealed at their ends to help prevent splitting and maximize the life of your investment. The steel frame is purchasable in the hue shown here or it can be powder coated with a lasting coat of paint in a different color. Please contact a AAA State of Play sales representative to learn more about colors available and current lead times. The Bryce Ipe Wood Slatted Bench with Back has 4, 6, and 8-foot length options and uses a portable/surface mount that keeps it mobile or allows you to mount it in place. Surface mounting requires hardware that is sold separately.
