Webcoat's Bryce Ipe Wood Slatted Bench without Back with Side Armrests features the natural beauty of Ipe wood within a framework of steel that has been shaped into attractive lines. This commercial-grade seating solution will amplify the visual appeal of your site. It is perfect fit for sites like college campuses, government buildings, corporate lobbies, or urban parks. The darkly mottled Ipe wood planks are sealed on their ends to help prevent unwanted splitting and protect your investment over time. The bench is purchasable in 4, 6, or 8-foot long versions to meet your seating needs. Its backless design permits access from both sides and allows it to be placed in a plethora of locations. This makes for a product with a great deal of placement versatility. The Bryce Ipe Wood Slatted Bench without Back with Side Armrests can have its steel frame powder-coated in an alternate color. Please contact a sales representative to learn more about currently available tones and scheduling opportunities. The bench has a special portable/surface mount that makes it transportable while also giving it the ability to be bolted in place.
