The Gateway Vertical Planking Steel Slatted Bench with Back is a stylish and attractive commercial-grade seating solution. The vertical steel planking has carefully placed gaps to facilitate airflow, which enhances comfort while also speeding up the drying process for the bench's surface after a rainy day. The strongly constructed metal of this bench is shaped into eye-catching curved lines that are paired with a colorful powder-coat to help make the furniture a great fit for town squares, pocket parks, shopping plazas, and corporate lobbies. The seat features inviting armrests on either end of the bench for added comfort. This low-maintenance seat can be bought in either 4-foot or 6-foot lengths to match your seating demands. The combined portable/surface mount creates a versatile bench and allows it to be easily transferrable and or affixed in place, depending on your preference. The cast aluminum legs are both lightweight and durable, adding to the mobility of the bench. The framework and the bench seat are available in the color shown or you can have the shade adjusted to match a color of your choice.
