

Uptown - Arches Steel Slatted Cantilever Bench without Back

MSRP $1,593.00

SALE $1,355.00

Highlights:

- Tough steel construction
- Powder coated paint finish
- Engrossing modern design
- Available in multiple lengths

Take a break and sit down on the Arches Steel Slatted Cantilever Bench. A backless curved seat lets users move their legs about freely and perch themselves sideways, providing maximum mobility. This backless design opens up placement possibilities and its sleek visual appeal means it'll have no trouble attracting users to sit, relax, and pass the time. The slim design and small footprint enables this commercial-grade furniture to fit in compact spaces, be they bus stops, businesses entrances, or along city sidewalks. Multiple benches can be installed adjacent to each other without taking up much room. A single steel tube beneath the middle of the bench creates a solid base for a unit that will handle regular use from occupants large and small. The planks are made from steel as well, further ensuring its unwavering durability. This bench comes in a slew of sizes and colors to fit your needs. Choose between an in-ground mount or a surface mount for your foundation. And if you don't enjoy the color shown here, just speak with a salesperson for more information on what other powder coat color options are available.