Home Sweet Home Recycled Plastic Dog Park Play Equipment is a popular activity station by Webcoat. It's a surefire way to energize a canine playspace and attract the attention of pet owners. People will want to bring their furry friends to a place that will challenge their dogs and test the animal's mental and physical abilities. This cute installation resembles a tiny house, complete with little windows. The unit employs in-ground mounting hardware to keep it secure to the earth below. The resilient plastic construction is simple to maintain and uses some eco-friendly material in the form of 100% recycled plastic posts. The economically sized footprint of the activity station gives the dog park designer freedom to install the unit in more compact locations. With its appealing design, this activity will have dogs relaxing in the shade under its roof or playing hide-and-seek with other dogs or their owners right away.
