Tack on an imaginative backdrop to your playground with the exciting Flower Drum. An easy-to-use and inviting freestanding unit, the botanically inspired floral design invites kids of all ages and abilities to circle around and create music. The solid build enhances durability to handle continuous hits and resist damage from outdoor elements. Curious kids will be amazed once they strike the drum and hear the musical tones it makes. Whether they produce random beats or compose marvelous melodies, youngsters will quickly make friends as they invent their own catchy songs to make their peers dance. Adding this fun installation can stimulate creativity and improve a child's musical abilities. Awakening a child's passion for music can help them relax and the stage will be set for them to begin exploring new areas of study at school. The Flower Drum can be combined with other musical instruments, so children can start a playground band, harmonize, and create their own masterpieces!
