Kids can keep playing all day with help from the Square Shade Shelter with 10 feet high Entrance Height. This shelter keeps kids out of direct sunlight to help prevent sunburns and discomfort from the heat. Not only does it protect people from the hazards of sun exposure, but it also shields playground equipment from discoloration and damage. A shade is a great tool for preserving and prolonging the life of play structures while keeping visitors comfortably out of the sun all year long. With a large assortment of colors to choose from, this built-to-last square shade can be introduced to any existing park, playground, pool, or seating area as an attractive, decorative, and functional feature. There are two mount options available, allowing it to be placed anywhere shelter is needed. The optional glide elbows can be helpful for initial installation or frequent removal due to quickly changing weather conditions. And a large selection of shade sizes ensures that your recreation areas can be properly covered.
