Children can take off on a galactic adventure while spinning on the Galaxy Disc merry-go-round. This unique design allows kids to play safely while challenging their physical abilities. It contains four fastened bars in two different shapes to grasp or lean on for support. The oblong rings allow the rider to get a solid grip while standing or crouching on the slip-resistant platform. Two thicker, triangular-shaped pieces are angled outward to help make pushing and pulling the merry-go-round easier for kids of many ages. Two people can ride while two push and they can easily take turns and maintain an appropriate speed. Activities like this promote teamwork and help children make new friends on the playground. Play equipment like the Galaxy Disc invites development and growth with socialization at schools, parks, or childcare facilities. Talk to a AAA State of Play salesperson about giving the Galaxy Disc an out of this world appearance with glossy powder-coat paint in a color that suits your play area.
