Hop into a spaceship and travel through the stars on the Galactic Quest Web Climbing Tower from Playground Equipment Dot-com! In accordance with the space theme, the steel frame is made up of three 3-dimensional star shapes. Combined with the intricate ropes, kids will feel like they are traversing the galaxy as they hop from star to star. This strong build allows the climber to hold multiple children at the same time, encouraging socialization and creating a fun new place for kids to make friends. Made from nylon encased steel, the rope provides a firm yet comfortable way for kids to climb and move about the structure. Kids will work on their motor planning skills as they weave in and about the complex collection of rope. Additionally, kids will improve their strength, coordination, and agility as they move across the climber. Energetic children will have a blast as they play on this eccentric and durable unit for hours on end!
