Inspired by nature, the Freestanding Curved Post Tilted Lily Pad Bridge offers a fun and challenging way for kids to trek across the playground. Each of the alternating pads is tilted inward, helping to develop balance and foot-eye coordination. The individual pads have a pole running through them for kids to grab as they step across the disc-like platforms. Kids can start their expedition by simply hopping onto the steps or by standing on the horizontal bars at the bottom of the support posts. Built to handle years of daily use, the four curved posts create a sturdy base to stabilize the unit. This allows for multiple kids to hop on and play, encouraging socialization and friendship building. Select from a large selection of color options to match it to your venue or school colors.
