Kids can enjoy the thrill of scaling the side of a cliff and many other imaginative adventures on the Freestanding Curved Post PE Climbing Wall by Playground Equipment Dot-com. The irregularly shaped openings in the panel give it an aesthetically pleasing abstract look. The way the holes are spaced make the activity slightly challenging but manageable for young climbers. Multiple children can join in the fun, promoting friendship and inspiring creative games. This installment is designed to disguise crucial full body exercise as delightful playtime. Climbing activities target key developing muscles and improve body control over time. In combination with other Get Physical units, the Freestanding Curved Post PE Climbing wall can tackle physical health and wellness on the playground. The powder-coated galvanized steel posts and climbing panel are made with commercial-grade materials and built to withstand daily use and harsh weather conditions.
