Every adventurous rock climber has to start somewhere. Why not try this challenging activity for the first time on the Freestanding Curved Post Panel Climber by Playground Equipment Dot-com. Alternating cut-outs and raised handholds are rotationally molded into the commercial-grade plastic and supported by two vertical galvanized steel posts, powder-coated for weather protection. Perfectly spaced gripping points and footholds are attached between the molded elements to make climbing a manageable feat for ages 5 to 12. As kids climb this playground rock wall, they are improving their endurance and stamina with every reach. Installations like this one encourage a healthy appreciation for exercise and conditioning while children enjoy their beloved playtime. Climbing is an ideal full-body workout for early development that presents low-impact challenges to strengthen the cardiovascular system. With a color scheme of your choice, the Freestanding Curved Post Panel Climber is an excellent addition to any playground focused on childhood health and wellness.
