The Freestanding Curved Post Maze Rung Vertical Ladder breaks the mold with its uniquely-designed arrangement of climbing bars. The charming array of asymmetric shapes is sure to gain attention from all across the playground. This installation has an inviting look and presents an approachable challenge for young children. Whether it's scaling the side of a mountain or taking the ladder to a make-believe world in the treetops, imaginative play is inevitable once little ones make it to this attraction. Climbing is the perfect activity for childhood development and physical wellness. Each reach, grip, and pull is strengthening the arm, leg, and core muscles. And creative games and socialization around the Freestanding Curved Post Maze Rung Vertical Ladder will enhance cognitive functions and problem-solving skills. A small footprint allows this commercial-grade unit to be easily added to existing playspaces and fit onto smaller lots. The powder-coated frame is durable, rust-resistant, and protected against weathering. Ask a AAA State of Play salesperson about custom color options.
