Safety is paramount for any gym, especially in areas of high activity. The Wall Pad with Polyurethane Foam from Gared Sports allows you to protect players, officials, and spectators from contact with the wall. These impact-absorbing pads are a must-have for a variety of venues including wrestling gyms and basketball courts. Each panel features a 7/16 inch thick oriented strand board filled with two inches of polyurethane foam to create a firm, yet protective pad. It is topped off with a polyester laminated vinyl finish to resist rot, mildew, and fungi. Tested to meet ASTM E84 standards, the panels are flame resistant for increased durability. This means that it has a low fire spread rate and minimal smoke production. The panels can be easily combined with other padding and placed together to maximize coverage. Choose from a six, seven or eight foot tall pad to meet your specific needs and customize it with your color choice to match your venue.
