Perfect for rehabilitation centers or beginners, the Medicine Ball Multi-Purpose Rebounder works both strength and cardio. A 28-inch diameter pad provides plenty of room to bounce medicine balls on and can be adjusted up to a 60 degree angle. This allows patrons to exercise from various distances to target a wide range of muscle groups. To deal with the heavy weight of the balls and frequent use, the unit features a tubular steel frame and strong springs. A neoprene grip on the handle grants users a comfortable and secure place to stabilize themselves as they exercise or stretch. It also serves as a convenient handle to move the unit. A tray at the back base of the rebounder can hold multiple medicine balls when they are not in use, creating an easy one-stop-shop for people to choose a desired weight.
