Climb, dip, and pull yourself up with the Beginner Freestanding Playground Gym by PlaygroundEquipment.com. This compact piece of equipment features four exercise stations; two chin-up bars, a ladder, as well as a dip station, so everyone can experience a variety of beneficial exercises. The ladder features six galvanized steel rungs to climb up and down to advance arm and leg strength. The twin chin-up bars are slightly lower than the top rung of the ladder, offering varying heights to suit your exercise routine. Lastly, the dip station allows users to work out their chest and bicep muscles as they lift and lower their body weight between the bars. Built with commercial-grade galvanized steel, this gym station is meant to withstand the harsh outdoor conditions and prolonged use. The Beginner Freestanding Playground Gym is a great addition to any fitness-focused outdoor space, as it contains many crucial exercise components combined into one unit.
