Encourage building a child's core strength and balance by adding this piece of equipment to your playground. The Flower and Leaf Stepping Path (Set of 5) has a unique and vibrant design that's sure to pull kids in like a magnet, like a flower might attract a butterfly or bee. Let kids' imaginations take hold by making them feel like a bug climbing through a flower patch. Steppers are a great fit for a playground, as they contribute to a child's development. Building on problem solving skills, enhancing their depth perception and improving their coordination skills, the flower path is a natural fit for kids ages 2-12. This commercial-grade product is a perfect design for smaller children, as the height of its platform is a great introduction to enriching play experiences that are safe and fun. By having more than one set of flower hoppers, you can make your play site look like a small garden, which can be both an exciting and relaxing theme to incorporate into your playground.
