The pull-up bar is a staple of any gym, whether it's indoors or outside. The Quadruple Pull-Up Bars allow for full range of motion and can accommodate up to four users at once. This reduces the risk of overcrowding while facilitating socialization for teens and adults. Additionally, the Quadruple Pull-up Bars have eight small stepping blocks all around the structure meaning that everyone, regardless of height or arm length, can work out their upper back and core while doing pull-ups. Made from galvanized steel with a powder-coated finish, the Quadruple Pull-up bars are sturdy and resistant to most inclement weather conditions. Add the Quadruple Pull-up Bars to your adult playground or outdoor space, and provide all those ages 13 and up the chance to start working on key back and core muscles. Combine this element with any of our other adult fitness stations to foster a beneficial full body workout.
