The Triple Royal Upper Body Combo provides a great way for experts and exercise novices to get an effective upper body workout. With helpful instructions printed on each of the three sides of the Station, its intuitive design will benefit all users, particularly beginners, as well as offer guidance on proper technique and best use. The Triple Royal Upper Body Combo can accommodate three users at once, so no one on your playground will have to work out alone again. Users 13 and up will love the circuit-like nature of the Triple Royal Upper Body Combo, which enables them to do back-to-back sets of different exercises without having to move very far. Each exercise will target different areas of the arms and chest using only body weight as resistance for a low-impact workout. Try the Triple Royal Upper Body Combo on your outdoor space, and liven things up with a brilliant piece of comprehensive workout equipment.
