Great for kids who want a unique swinging experience, the Elite Series Arch Post Nest Swing is a wonderful addition to any playground. Made from commercial-grade, rotationally-molded plastic, the Nest Swing Seat will make for an interesting spin on traditional single-seat swing seats. Although the Nest Swing Seat only holds one child at a time, it also provides extra room for children to sit, allowing them to utilize their legs and core muscles to propel themselves through the air at an angle. The Elite Series Arch Post Nest Swing features two sturdy, arch-shaped posts, which are built to withstand the outdoor elements. If your playground could use some structural variance, the Elite Series Arch Post Nest Swing will make for an exciting break from multi-bay swing sets. The single-capacity nature of the Nest Swing Seat will make kids feel like the adventure is truly theirs, while their friends and parents will love pushing them and helping them along in their playground endeavors.
