Daring playground-goers are invited into Gryphon's Grawl, one of the newest additions to PlaygroundEquipment.com's Castle Series. There are so many different interactive features, children will surely be able to play for hours and hours on end. This structure is multi-leveled, allowing for diversity of components and activities for kids to participate in. On the ground level, there is a drum attachment, which will allow for kids to express their blossoming musical and rhythmic abilities. There are also several different ways to climb up this structure, including a draw bridge climber, a pod climber, a set of stairs, and three pebble climbers. Once the kids have reached the very top platform of the play structure, they are able to fly down the amazing straight slide back to the bottom of the structure. This castle-themed structure is sure to encourage imaginative play for each and every kid that interacts with it. Gryphon's Grawl is perfect for any brave and adventurous playground-goer.
