Joining three pentagons and three hexagons to create a curved playground climber that is fun and exciting for kids creates the C Bridge 2 Plastic Climber. Open spaces create hand and feet holes to negotiate this complex piece of playground equipment. By playing and climbing, children develop coordination, strength, and aerobic fitness. Not only is it good for developing fitness, it also encourages imagination and creative thinking; while playing, children will go on fascinating adventures with their friends. Kids can challenge themselves by climbing over the top, then swinging down to hang from the bottom, which will develop a number of muscle groups. The C Bridge 2 Plastic Climber is a great addition to any park, playground, or recreation area, and is sure to be a hit with the children.
