Ideal for kids of all ages the C Bridge Plastic Climber is a fun, distinctive, and challenging playground climber. The interconnected rotomolded hexagon and pentagon Tortoise panels create a curved freestanding structure. Kids will love playing outdoors on this endlessly entertaining craggy climber; the C Bridge Plastic Climber is ideal for any playground or park. This playground equipment also improves coordination, develops muscles, and builds aerobic health. There is a space at the bottom of the climber to crawl through, and hand and foot holds to help climb over the top or hang from underneath. The unique look created by the panels gets the attention of children and inspires their imaginations. Parents love that it meets the playground safety guidelines laid out by both the ASTM and CPSC for commercial playground equipment.
