A toned chest and powerful muscles are within reach with the Accessible Double Chest Press. Unlike most outdoor fitness equipment, this fitness station allows those in wheelchairs and other mobility-challenged users to exercise just as easily as their able-bodied counterparts. Since not everyone can afford a gym membership, outdoor fitness equipment is a great way to attract fitness novices and enthusiasts alike, and what better backdrop for an afternoon workout than the great outdoors? In addition to its inclusive nature, the Accessible Double Chest Press allows two users to work out at once, increasing its utility as part of an outdoor fitness circuit. The Accessible Double Chest Press effectively replicates the muscular motions present during a bench press exercise, and with this unit, there's no need for adding weight or additional resistance, making it a safe and effective workout option.
