Have an empty space in your playground or outdoor fitness area that could use some compact balance equipment? The Quadruple Balance Circle Step Trainer is a great piece of outdoor fitness equipment that can be added seamlessly to any recreational space. Balance beams provide hours of straightforward activity that helps improve agility, coordination, balance, and motor skills. Unlike typical balance beams, the Quadruple Balance Circle Step Trainer consists of four relatively short beams that surround the wheel-mounted post in the center. This way, users can deftly transition between beams, providing another aspect of balance-related fun. Additionally, since the Quadruple Balance Circle Step Trainer consists of four different beams, multiple users at once can take advantage of it, perhaps even adding a layer of competitiveness to the equation by racing one another to the middle wheel.
