Perfect for all manner of imagination-fueled activities, Forest Market is a small yet dependable play hut that children will take advantage of time and time again. Its sole entrance and exit is a small tunnel that can only be maneuvered by crawling, and once kids have made their way through, they'll be greeted by a spacious room in which multiple children can fit comfortably. The Club House roof sits above the space and ensures ample shade for all who sit underneath, while the Stump Store Panel at the front of Forest Market allows kids to use their creative minds and envision themselves as a shopkeeper or merchant. The stump below the window can function as a seat for those outside Forest Market, and increases its ability to bring children together on the playground.
