As its name suggests, Playful Prairie contains a wide open, flat space that comes complete with a variety of soft, vinyl-covered foam blocks. This space can be utilized in a variety of different ways, from sitting down and hanging out to playing ball games. The foam blocks make great seats, and can even be used to make forts or in other creative ventures. However, this space isn't all that's included in Playful Prairie. Also present are several activity panels, including the Ball Turn Activity Panel, as well as the Tic-Tac-Toe Activity Panel, both of which challenge kids to use their brains and collaborate with their peers. On the elevated portion of Playful Prairie, an Enclosed Straight Tube Slide helps kids return back to the ground and start playing with their friends again.
