Persnickety Playhouse has just the necessary play elements to entertain children at schools at daycares for hours on end. On days when the weather simply isn't cooperating with outdoor recess plans, indoor playgrounds can save the day. Using a relatively small amount of space, indoor playgrounds can transform any modestly-sized indoor area into a bonafide playground, on which children can laugh and play with their friends to their hearts' content. Persnickety Playhouse is one such playground, and it's full of things for kids to get excited about. For instance, the Ball Turn Activity Panel, the Gyro Activity Panel, and the Tic-Tac-Toe Activity Panel each offer their own unique challenges to young minds, who are always looking to engage and play with and play mentally-stimulating games. The 3-Level Deck Climb can be ascended up to the Corner and Sphere Junctions, which lead to the main attraction: the Enclosed Hook Tube Slide. There's no shortage of ways to get active indoors with Persnickety Playhouse. Please note: Surfacing tiles and ramps not included.
