Designed especially for the most physically-active young ones, Blissful Bungalow is an indoor playground that's replete with thrilling features. True to its name, Blissful Bungalow will make children young and old feel all the same happiness associated with outdoor play structures, but under the roof of their school or daycare. Indoor playgrounds bring all the fun of the playground indoors, making them advantageous for entities that either lack the square footage for an outdoor playground or simply wish to create a weather-proof area in which kids can play to their hearts' content. On the ground level, kids can play with the Ball Turn Activity Panel, but not before they store away their shoes and other belongings in the Sneaker Keeper. Ascending the 6-Level Deck Climb, children can make their way through the T-Tube Junction, and eventually slide back down to the ground using the Enclosed Curved Tube Slide. There's no shortage of ways for children to get active with the Blissful Bungalow. Please note: Surfacing tiles and ramps not included.
